

8-7-2009

International Extension Curriculum: Strengthening Extension's Capacity for International Engagement—Module 6: Exploring Cultural Perspective of Families

Kimberly A. Greder
Iowa State University, kgreder@iastate.edu

Beth Fleming
Iowa State University

Tom Quinn
Iowa State University

Follow this and additional works at: http://lib.dr.iastate.edu/hdfs_extensionpubs

Part of the Family, Life Course, and Society Commons

Recommended Citation

Greder, Kimberly A.; Fleming, Beth; and Quinn, Tom, "International Extension Curriculum: Strengthening Extension's Capacity for International Engagement—Module 6: Exploring Cultural Perspective of Families" (2009). Human Development and Family Studies Extension and Outreach Publications. 1.

http://lib.dr.iastate.edu/hdfs_extensionpubs/1

This Book is brought to you for free and open access by the Human Development and Family Studies at Iowa State University Digital Repository. It has been accepted for inclusion in Human Development and Family Studies Extension and Outreach Publications by an authorized administrator of Iowa State University Digital Repository. For more information, please contact digirep@iastate.edu.

Module 6: Exploring Cultural Perspectives on Families.

Families build the foundation of communities. As the demographic profiles of families in communities change, communities change. In order to design and deliver extension programs and services to effectively meet the needs of communities, it is important to understand the needs and wants of those who live there. Culture influences the values, beliefs, priorities and practices of families which shapes their needs and wants. Thus, it is important to understand the cultural background of families who live in communities. It is also important to understand how the cultural backgrounds of those who design and deliver services to families influence programs and services and their interactions with families.

This module can provide professional development to extension staff. However, activities in this module can also be used in extension programming to assist others in learning about the role of culture in families, and in how individual design and deliver programs and services. Information in this module also directly relates to information covered in other modules such as module 1 (Building Cultural Competence) and module 4 (Cultivating Community Leadership). It will be helpful for learners to have completed module 1 before they complete this module.

User's Guide:

Module 6 is designed to take learners approximately 9 hours to complete.

Unit 1: Importance of working with new audiences (2 hours to 3 days)

Activity 1: Learning about your community (2 hours)

Activity 2: Environmental scan (3 days)

Unit 2: Exploring your own culture (2 hours)

Activity 1: Family Values Activity (45 minutes)

Activity 2: Life Experiences Activity (45 minutes)

Activity 3: Reflecting on culture (30 minutes)

Unit 3: Building Relationships (3 hours)

Activity 1: Building Relationships (videostream and discussion questions) (30 minutes)

Activity 2: Sharing a Family's Story (videostream and discussion questions) (30 minutes)

Activity 3: Reviewing Sharing a Family's Story publication (30 minutes)

Activity 4: Family Scenarios (1 hour 30 minutes)

Unit 4: Engaging New Families in Your Community (2 hours to several weeks)

Activity 1: Review Community Voices (1 hour)

Activity 2: Review one of the guides in the series, Welcoming New Iowans: A guide for Citizens and Communities. Building Respect and Tolerance for Immigrant and Refugee Newcomers <http://www.bcs.uni.edu/idm/newiowans/handbook.htm> (1 hour)

Activity 3: Implement Community Voices (several weeks)